Anxo Araújo premieres “Canción Perfecta”, the advance single of his first solo studio work “Plan de Urbanismo para un novo couto mixto, which will be published on June 28th. "Perfect Song" is a dream song that delves into the search for new paths, a fresh air full of joyful and optimistic melancholy. The video clip is available from June 23 on digital platforms and on its YouTube channel.

“Plan de urbanismo para un novo couto mixto” starts from a personal need turned into a challenge. The creation process took place during several months of the year 2020 in his recording studio, obtaining as a result of that introspection ten beautiful songs that inspire us with moments of change, self-affirmation and reflection on the relative importance of things.

This new work was born in the context of a pandemic. Happy music for times of crisis, or in the words of Anxo himself «A way out of the deepest holes with confidence and enthusiasm. A boost of self-esteem. A learning to dance by letting the accumulated anger go. A look at the world face to face. An absolute liberation.».

The album was recorded and mixed in his studio Unha Casa Calquera (Poio) and mastered by Victor Garcia at Ultramarinos (Costa Brava / Barcelona) and can be purchased at some physical outlets and in digifile or digital format on his website, at which you can also have a fun time playing a game of the mythical video game "Pong"!

Anxo Araújo brings us this interesting work that adds to the effervescent and prolific moment that music lives and, more specifically, pop in Galician.
